one of these disqualifying features or are there some net conditions? That person then sends it to the state. The state goes through the form to see whether or not...

SENATOR HILLMAN: Yes.

SENATOR LANDIS: ...it qualifies.

SENATOR HILLMAN: That, but...

SENATOR LANDIS: And in all counties, both of the ones they're responsible for and the ones that they're not.

SENATOR HILLMAN: Okay. Now Senator Wickersham had said earlier that there is no fiscal note. There currently is not assumed that PTA will need any more staff. If they have to review plans from all assessors which would be all counties and then those that don't have a plan and they have to investigate or...and in addition to they have to develop a model plan. Maybe they already have that, I don't know. If I was a county assessor, I wouldn't worry about developing a plan. I'd just get that model plan right away to go with, but they do have to develop that model plan. They have to develop forms. I've never known, Senator Landis, an agency yet that didn't have to have a cost to develop a form. I just, you know, and then...plus go through those applications as they come in and for rebate or refund or whatever it is we're talking here. I cannot imagine, I cannot imagine that there's not going to be a somewhat of an administrative cost from the very beginning. I just...go ahead.

SENATOR LANDIS: It is out of the question. It may be rhetorical in which case you want to finish your talk.

SENATOR HILLMAN: No, I just...I find it hard to believe that there is not an A bill with administrative...

SENATOR LANDIS: And were this not a Governor's bill, maybe there would be an A bill. I don't know.

SENATOR HILLMAN: Well...

SENATOR LANDIS: I mean there's a certain amount of politics in
